THE Singapore papers to hand by the last steamer contain the full text of the report the Commission appointed to enquire into the recent riot, and of the memorandum drawn up by Governor OED upon that report. Both documents are carefully framed, and clearly set forth the morits of the matter; but as we have already given the large reproducing the Governor's memo., which is beginn not in Ohine are innorthed the substitute charing and an arrange of the professors of the professors of the substitute charing and are a local to the substitute charing and are also as a local to the substitute charing and are a loc sufficient to show the nature of the facts elicited by the enquiry. Those facts the Singapore Times sums up briefly as follows: "The cause of the outbreak was the issue of a notice by the Police, by beat of gong, with reference to street obstructions, which bad been very naturally misunderstood-a fact medial agents derived from the animal, vegetwhich the members of the Executive Council. the Justices of the Peace, and the Heads of the Police, seem to have ascertained on the medicine. the Superintendent found the circumstances to differ from those on the supposition of which the memorandum was based he would of course be called upon to exercise his discration, and would assuredly be held justified in doing so when once he had established the point of difference.

On the whole, all who have been concerned in the investigation in Singapore appear to have acted with energy, discrimination, and talent, and we doubt not that the light which has been thrown upon the subject will be of much value, both in Singapore and elsewhere. The mistake in the Colonial-Secretary's office, in the non-issue of the proper nctification, was a serious one, and is dealt natives. Hence they are in a position somewhat with unsparingly in the report. It does not having freedom of religion, while in civil matters appear how this mistake occurred, and so they are obliged to conform to a certain extent to far as is known, it seems to have been a imagined will not occur again.

On one very important point, the Commission, the Governor and the Singapore Press are entirely astray. They one and all conclude that the system of registration in Hongkong has proved a success: "At Hongkong," says the Governor, "where registration exists on the larger scale alluded to by the Commission (embracing amongst other things the registration of servants), it has been found of the greatest value both in maintaining order and giving security to property, whilst it materially assists in the detection of crime." We can only say we are excessively glad to hear it, as before this, in common with almost every one in the Colony, not excluding gentlemen who have occupied the post of Registrar-General (as witness the remarks publicly made by Mr. LISTER in his position of Coroner), we were under the impression that the attempt to register Chinese in this Colony had completely and Orders for Copies may be sent to the Daily lamentably failed. This fact is notorious, and, before the Singapore Government proceeds to adopt the system of registration, which it looks upon as a panacea for all ills, it would be well if it obtained a little more information as to the practical working of the plan, of which it has by some means obtained a completely erroneous account.

NEGROES FOR INDIA. (Times of India.)

It is odd that the negro, who as an individual is not a fascinating creature, should be so irresistibly attractive as a race. When he is in his own country, leading the lazy life to which he was born, and in which his soul, it he have one, and certainly his body, delight, perverse ingennity sets traps for him, contest, or kidnaps him, and finally carries off the idlest of God's creatures, and transforms bim at one terrible stroke into the hardest working, and often most ill-used, being in the world, a slave. In his new character he interests another class, and again ingenuity sets to work on his behalf, and those who have by such illegal measures possessed themselves of him are coerced, or persuaded, or bribed to give him up. "In his last condition be is supposed to attract the attention of the whole civilised world; he now requires to be clothed and converted, taught a language and a trude, and as in this new state fthings be but no place of his own, one must be found for him, even at the cost of displacing others. The latest proposition for disposing of him with benefit to bimself and advantage to others, made originally in the Bengal Times, and very heartily endorsed by a correspondent of the Indian Statesman in its issue of the 15th January, really deserves notice. It is surgested that he should be "imported" in bulk to this country, and, with his wife and children, made to do the whole work of an Indian bousehold, with payat the rate of Rs. 50 a mouth for the lot of them. To a careless mind there may seem to be some little difficulty in this matter of importation, and a " joint-stock com-1.—(1.) GOD IS LOVE. (By the late Sir John Bowing, formerly Governor of Hongkong.) God is love : his mercy brightens All the path in which we rave: Bliss he wakes and woe he lightens; God is wisdom, God is love. Chance and change are busy ever; Man decays, and ages move: But his mercy waneth never; God is wisdom, God is love. Even the bour that darkest seemeth Will his changeless goodness prove; From the mist his brightness streameth ; God is wisdom, God is love.

He with earthly cares entwineth Hope and comfort from above: Every where his glory shineth; God is wisdom, God is love.

DIFFICULTY OF KNOWING A

COUNTRY. A country is not to be understood by a few months' residence in it. So many component parts go to make up the grand total, where civilisation, and freedom, and power are on a large scale, that the judgment gets perplexed. It pauses for re-examination. It must be slow in coming to conclusions if it would be right. Often it must change them. A member of the diplomatic corps, an enlightened observer, said to me a few days ago, that, at the end of his first year, he over its boiler loudly clanging, was already thought he knew England very well. When running through the outskirts of the town, the third had gone by, he began to have doubts; and that now, after a still longer ready the narrow streets and alleys, right time, his opinions were more unsettled than through the centre of which the railroad ran, ever. Some he had changed entirely others had undergone modification, and he knew with people driven from their houses, whose not what fate was before the rest. There was reason in his remark. If it be not contradictory I would say, that he showed his tradictory I would say, that he showed his tradictory I would say, that he showed his judgment in appearing to have at present no judgment at all. The stranger sees in England prosperity the most amazing, with what it; pauperism that is startling, with public sphere alive with showers of sparks and swirlprivate charity unfailing, to feed, elothe, and house it; the boldest freedom, with submission to law; ignorance and crime so widely diffused as to appal, with genius, and learning, and virtue to reassure; intestine air from beyond to rush in with eddying commotions predicted, and never happening; constant complaints of poverty and suffering and power. These are some of the anomalies vance of its usual halting-place, and the en receipt of is. in Stamps. which he sees. How is he at once to pass affrighted passangers leaping forth, saw beupon them all? he, a stranger, when the foremost of the natives, after studying them a lifetime, do nothing but differ?-From " Residence at the Court of London," from 1817 to 1825.
